PRESS CENSORSHIP IS PROVIDED IN BILL

War College Measure Would Impose Restrictions Upon News in Event of Conflict.

Sweeping powers of censorship over the press of the United States in time of war or threatened hostilities would be conferred on the Federal government, if Congress enacts a bill prepared in tentative form by the Army War College under direction of the General Staff. A special report, accompanying the draft of the proposed legislation, has been submitted to the War Department.

Calling attention to the vexatious difficulties encountered abroad, and particularly in England, owing to lack of smooth-working regulations when the war broke out, the War College suggests that in administering the proposed law in time of national emergency, the government should seek the co-operation of the newspaper men. The report says in part:

"The press, powerful in peace, may become more so in war. By its editorials and presentation of news it may sway the people for or against war and thus stimulate recruiting and hearten and encourage the fighting forces in their work, or by adverse criticism may tend to destroy the efficiency of these agencies. Again, by publishing news of the movements and numbers of our own troops valuable information may be conveyed to the enemy."

$1,000,000 ASKED FOR DETECTING TAX FRAUDS

Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo made public last night a letter he had written to Chairman Lobeck, of the House Committee on expenditures, in which he requested an appropriation of $1,000,000 for the detection of tax frauds.

The Secretary took occasion to renew the recommendation made in his annual message for an increase of $1,000,000 in the appropriation for the income tax field force and of $500,000 for the appropriation for the office force, to be used in detection of frauds against the government through the withholding of income tax.

BIG NAVY FIGHT BEGUN IN HOUSE

Farr and Britten Play Administration in Sensational Speeches.

The fight for a bigger navy was begun in the House yesterday by Republicans, who are, to a man, opposed to the bill sponsored by the majority members which provides for five battle cruisers.

Just before adjournment, amendments providing for six battle cruisers, two Dreadnoughts, fifty submarines, twenty-eight destroyers and six scout cruisers were introduced.

Representative Farr, of Pennsylvania, a member of the Naval Affairs Committee, aroused enthusiasm when he declared he would vote for twenty-five battleships, if need be, and that he would support an appropriation of $500,000,000 this year. The Republicans and galleries as well burst into applause.

Representative Britten, of Chicago, in a scathing attack on the measure, characterized it as "unscientific, unbalanced and a patchwork of log-rolling between pacifists and conservatives after the White House had radioed an 'S. O. S.' to the Democratic members of the committee."

"It is a simple matter to bluff Germany whose fleet is vastly superior to ours," he asserted, "when the British navy stands between us, but does the administration think that this condition will always exist and that we can look upon the British navy as our protector? The bluffing of Japan is entirely a different matter and her polite requests are granted, because we understand the Japanese spirit, while the equally polite request of China applying to our immigration bill is summarily rejected, because China is peaceful."

"Scandalous," says Britten. Mr. Britten declared the appropriation of only $2,000,000 for aeronautics was "scandalous." Only nine aeroplanes in the navy are serviceable, he said.

The closing speech in the general debate was made by Majority Leader Kitchin. He declared it would be a crime to vote for the unprecedented program proposed by the minority.

"At the formal hearings on the naval situation," Mr. Kitchin continued, "a little more than a year ago, Secretary Daniels, Admiral Fletcher, Admiral Badger, and others told us that with the addition of two battleships our navy would be equal to that of any in the world except that of Great Britain. This statement was never disputed on the floor by any of the gentlemen who now are demanding that the program proposed by the minority be carried out."

"The program," he said, "I would go further than I would go, but I will support it because it does away with the five-year program and the Dreadnoughts' proposal."

"BUFFALO BILL" HERE WITH WILD WEST SHOW

Famous Old Plainsman, with 101 Ranch Performers, Thrills Big Washington Audience.

The Buffalo Bill-101 Ranch Wild West show opened yesterday afternoon at the circus grounds at Fifteenth and H streets northeast with a performance that caused the thousands of spectators beneath the big top to stamp the exhibition as "the best ever."

A realistic raid by Mexican bandits on an American town, exhibitions by United States cavalry and artillery, thrilling stunts by cowboys and cowgirls, the pursuit of an old stage coach by Indians, exhibitions of Cossack riding, Jap tricks and Arab tumbling were only a few of the features.

The imitations of the old days on the western plains grew a bit too realistic when a horse slipped and fell, pinning its coward rider to the ground. The horse scrambled to his feet but the girl clinging to the bridle and dragged a short distance, was carried to the dressing rooms by two cowboys.

The spectators breathed a sigh of relief and applauded when it was announced that the fair rider had not been seriously injured. Later she reappeared on her horse.

An interesting spectacle was seen when the United States artillerymen raised a large American flag, and salutes boomed from two pieces of field artillery, the vast throng in the stands rose to its feet and hats were removed to Old Glory.

Col. William F. Cody, "Buffalo Bill," probably the most famous plainsman living, was greeted with cheers. Col. Cody appeared almost as young as when he made his first appearance here many years ago.

The performance of the afternoon was repeated at night and two more performances will be given, the first at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and the other at 8 o'clock at night.

RAPLEY FUNERAL TOMORROW.

Wife of Theater Man to Have Private Interment.

Mrs. Grace Boggs Rapley, wife of William H. Rapley, proprietor of the National Theater, died suddenly at 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning of heart disease at the age of 36. Mr. and Mrs. Rapley were to have left Washington today for an automobile trip to Chicago, returning via New York. They had been married just a few days less than ten years, and were planning a celebration of the anniversary on their return.

Mrs. Rapley is survived by her husband, her mother, Mrs. Anna Boggs, and a sister, Miss Zella Boggs. Funerals will be held tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock at 1735 P street northwest. Interment will be private, in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Lusitania Memorial Wreath To Be Lowered Into Potomac

Impressive Ceremony Will Be Staged This Afternoon Aboard Steamer Charles Macalester. Exercises for Maine Victims at Arlington.

An echo of the Lusitania disaster will resound through Washington this afternoon when a huge floral wreath, with the name of the ill-fated liner inscribed upon it, will be lowered into the Potomac by the crew of the 1,300 souls who went to death when the ship sank.

The ceremony, which will be staged from the deck of the Charles Macalester on its 2300 trip to Mount Vernon, will be one of the most impressive Memorial Day events in the United States. Among those who will take part in the lowering of the massive floral tribute will be Mrs. W. J. Weiss, president of the Legion of Loyal Women and vice president of the Clara Barton Memorial Association.

As the steamer pulls out into the middle of the channel from its dock at the Seventh street wharves and turns its nose down stream the wreath, five feet in diameter, will be lowered slowly to the surface of the water with the single word—Lusitania—staring at a silent memory at the crowds gathered on the dock.

When the wreath touches the surface the ribbons upon which it was lowered will be released and the tribute, which has been made on cork frame, will float down the river. Mrs. John A. Logan was to have taken part in the ceremony, but was unable to attend because of a recent illness.

The Army and Navy Union also has made elaborate plans for honoring its dead today. In the Maine section of Arlington Cemetery floral wreaths will be placed on the graves of the victims of the ill-fated battleship, the sinking of which caused the Spanish war, and also on the graves of the victims of the submarine P-4, sunk off Honolulu a year ago. These ceremonies will be preceded by a military parade on Pennsylvania avenue, starting from Fourth street northwest at 8:15 o'clock this morning, being reviewed at Thirteenth street by Maj. Gen. George Barnett, commander of the United States Marine Corps; Rear Admiral W. S. Benson, chief of naval operations in the navy, and their aids.

Col. William F. Cody, "Buffalo Bill," an escort of United States Cavalry, the Naval Militia, a battalion of the District National Guard and the High School Cadets will be features of the parade.

At 9 o'clock the U. S. S. Sylvia will leave its dock at the Seventh street wharves and proceed up the river to the Aqueduct Bridge with fifty women strewn flowers in the wake of the vessel on the trip. At 10 o'clock, as the vessel returns down stream, the crew will fire a national salute in honor of the dead.

The exercises in the Maine section of Arlington Cemetery will begin at 11 o'clock with Dr. C. C. Mervin de Cespedes, Cuban Minister, as the principal speaker. Rev. Dr. James Shera Montgomery, Representative Jacob E. Meeker, of Missouri, and Representative John E. Raker, of California, also will speak.

BILL TO PROVIDE FOR TARIFF BODY TRAINMEN MAY STRIKE TODAY

Revenue Measure Also Will Include Protective Duties for Dyestuff Industry. Union Station Employees to Walk Out if Objectable Foremen Are Kept.

An agreement to include in the forthcoming revenue bill a provision for the creation of a tariff commission, protective duties for the dyestuff industry and anti-dumping and unfair competition provisions was reached yesterday at a conference of the Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee of the House. The meeting was the first to be held since the administration measure to be reported after the national conventions.

The provisions agreed upon yesterday constitute the steps by which the Democratic leaders hope to win over to the support of the revenue bill many Republican voters. Majority Leader Kitchin went so far yesterday as to characterize the proposed measure as nonpartisan and to express the hope that a majority of the Republican members of the House will vote for it.

According to the general revenue policy agreed upon, the additional income is to be raised by an increase of the surtax upon incomes, an inheritance tax and a tax upon war munitions. The details of the provisions have not yet been worked out.

Tariff Commission Plan. The tariff commission plan to be incorporated in the bill is that proposed by Representative Rainey, of Illinois, who has been in consultation with the administration on the subject. His bill provides for the creation of a United States Tariff Commission, composed of six members to be appointed by the President with the advice and consent of the Senate, not more than three of whom shall be members of the same political party.

Representative Kitchin, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, issued the following statement yesterday: "There will be incorporated in the general revenue bill ample provision for the encouragement of the dyestuff industry, the production of which is the basis of the production of dyestuff stands solitary and alone in its relations to the tariff. Before the European war Germany controlled the whole production. We produced here less than 20 per cent. Not only the United States, but the whole world was dependent upon Germany for its dyestuffs. The action of the committee will make it possible that within the next five years American dyestuff manufacturers will produce at least 50 per cent of the domestic consumption, and this will make not only dyestuff manufacturers but the industries using dyestuffs independent of the German monopoly."

Diseases That Show in Your Face?

It matters not how little confidence we may have in our ability as medical readers, all of us by life-long practice are face readers. A considerable portion of our attitude toward our fellows is determined by what we see in their faces. Most of us have become surprisingly accurate face readers in regard to moral and emotional tendencies. And we also read just as well when the face indicates either internal or external disease. The tense, drawn features, indicating continued pain from some internal ailment, or the breaking out of one of the many skin diseases, which speak only too plainly for themselves, because most, if not all, skin diseases show on the face sooner or later. Impure, impoverished or impaired blood are the prime causes of disease. Therefore the blood should be nourished, as well as purified.

One of the striking changes in modern medicine is the way the use of iron for blood troubles has decreased. It was discovered that iron was not a blood food. When people are suffering from poisoned blood they need a remedy that will not only drive out the impurities, but that will nourish the blood at the same time—S. S. S., the standard blood purifier for 20 years, is purely vegetable and will absolutely drive out the impurities and nourish and tone up the blood system, both physical and nervous. Purify and nourish your blood by taking S. S. S. If you need special advice write Medical Department, Room 18, Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Ga.—Adv.

SENATE PASSES RIVERS MEASURE

Sum of $43,000,000 Appropriated After Weeks of Stubborn Fighting.

The Senate passed the $43,000,000 rivers and harbors bills by a vote of thirty-five to thirty-two yesterday, after three weeks of stubborn filibustering led by Senator Kenyon on the Republican side and Senator Hastings on the Democratic side. Final efforts of the filibusters to recommit the measure were voted down by narrow margins in rapid succession.

Just before the final vote was taken, Senator Smoot's motion to recommit the bill with instructions to the Commerce Committee to bring in a substitute was rejected, thirty-four to thirty-five. A recommending motion by Senator Hastings failed earlier in the day. An amendment by Senator Taggart, of Indiana, to hold up expenditures of any part of the $43,000,000 until declared necessary, was rejected, thirty-seven to twenty-one. An amendment by Senator LaFollette, of Wisconsin, authorizing a $300,000 improvement for the Duluth and Superior harbor was accepted unanimously. Another amendment by LaFollette to pass the Secretary of War investigate the depth of Great Lake harbors was also adopted.

Senator Newland's amendment creating a river regulation committee, designed to eliminate the "pork barrel" system, was first accepted by a rising vote, but later thrown out on a point of order.

Senator Kenyon made a final plea for the defeat of the bill just before the final roll call. He declared the Democratic Congress "drunk with extravagance" and predicted this would be the last rivers and harbor bill ever passed by Congress. Senator LaFollette also made a strong speech against the bill. The bill retains the $300,000 appropriation recommended by the President for deepening the Hudson River channel leading to the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

PAN-AMERICAN WOMEN'S CONFERENCE IS BOOMED

As a result of the success of the Women's Auxiliary Conference held in connection with the Pan-American Congress, which assembled in Washington, the Women's Clubs, in Washington, in January of this year, and was attended by delegates from all the American Republics, Director Barrett of the Pan-American Union has recommended to the National Federation of Women's Clubs, now meeting in New York, that it appoint a special committee to consider the advisability and ways and means of holding a pan-American conference of women in some capital of the American Republics in 1920, for the purpose of considering questions of social, educational, domestic and economic character which have to do with the welfare of woman and children or with which women are especially concerned.

This proposition of the director will be considered at a pan-American dinner to be held at the Hotel McAlpin, New York City tonight. Mrs. Pennybacker, president of the conference, will advocate the program as outlined by Director Barrett.

It is announced in London that nearly $2,500,000 capital has been promised to proposed British national dyestuff industry, by means of which it is planned to supply the place of former importations from Germany.
